

Moderator Workshop 2

Hector Niehues-Jeuffroy

GIZ

Mr. Hector Niehues-Jeuffroy is a specialist in the promotion and measurement of employment in the context of international development projects.

In his current position at GIZ's Competency Centre for Education, Vocational Education and Labour Markets, Mr. Niehues-Jeuffroy has planned employment promotion projects in Iraq, Tunisia and South Africa and works on various technical topics, including the digitalization of technical education and labour markets and the future of work.

Prior to his role in GIZ HQ, he has supported the establishment of regional labour market observatories in Egypt, where he also advised the Ministry of Manpower on employment policy.

Mr. Niehues-Jeuffroy holds a B.Sc. in Business Administration from the University of Mannheim and a M.Sc. in International Economics from the Erasmus University Rotterdam.