About the project

The Indonesian Just Energy Transition Partnership (JETP) was launched on 15 November 2022 by the President of the Republic of Indonesia, together with the Japanese Prime Minister and other world leaders, at the G20 Leaders' Summit in Bali, Indonesia. JETP is a collaboration between the Government of Indonesia (GOI), the International Partners Group (IPG) and the Glasgow Financial Alliance for Net Zero (GFANZ). In 2025, Germany took over the co-lead role for the JETP, jointly with Japan.

By mobilizing 20 billion USD in investments through the partners, the JETP aims to support Indonesia's accelerated and socially just energy transition, including the accelerated deployment of renewable energy, a phase-down of coal-fired electricity generation, investment in the transmission grid, a more climate-resilient society, and ultimately, net-zero economy-wide emissions.

The first phase of the JETP governance structure included a JETP Secretariat financed by Japan via ADB since 2023, first anchored at the Coordinating Ministry of Maritime Affairs and Investment (CMMAI), and later moved to the Coordinating Ministry of Economic Affairs (CMEA) under the new administration. Its mandate included developing and updating the Comprehensive Investment and Policy Plan (CIPP), overseeing five JETP working groups, and tracking the investment pipeline.

Starting in 2026, the second phase of the JETP implementation will commence, supported by a German-funded JETP Delivery Unit (JDU). Guided by CMEA and the new established Taskforce on Energy Transition and Green Economy (Satgas TEH) as well as IPG and GFANZ, it will act in a secretariat fashion to support implementation of the JETP, track and communicate about JETP project implementation progress, operate a strategic platform for dialogue, and debottleneck project realization.

Hosted physically at CMEA, GIZ acts as the administrative structure to set up and operate the new JDU. The JDU will be steered by and report to both the Government of Indonesia and the IPG/GFANZ.

To establish the new JDU, experts across a wide range of energy transition topics are being recruited, to cover different functions of the JDU service delivery including stakeholder liaison, policy analysis, financial expertise, communication & outreach.

We seek one (1) motivated and qualified Indonesian national candidate for:
